

BRONWYN APRIL

Bronwyn April, an experienced professional in social development and social justice, has dedicated the past 18 years to working in these fields. Originally from South Africa, she now focuses on social justice and development in Ireland, specifically assisting migrants who live on the margins, in Dublin.

Her work involves facilitating their integration into Irish society, addressing issues of discrimination and racism, and providing access to employment opportunities, skills-based training, and social services.

Bronwyn holds multiple degrees, including an MA in Child, Youth and Family Studies from the Institute of Technology, Carlow, and degrees in Social Work, Psychological Studies, and Social Development from the University of Cape Town (UCT)

HOW HAS THE STAND PROJECT HELPED YOU?

"I have been fortunate enough to meet incredible heart-centred driven individuals, who let their talk be their walk, and their walk be their talk, and these individuals have now become my home away from home". Not only have I gained a sense of community, but having been part of the STAND Project, has shown me that I am I am not alone, and that there are people out there, who share the same visceral reaction to injustice, as I do"

WHAT DO YOU LOOK FORWARD TO WORKING ON AS A STAND TRAINER?

"Facilitating conversations with diverse communities, teams, individuals and organisations and sparking conversations that will lead to lasting sustainable change and development".

The STAND Project is supported by
Rethink Ireland & IHREC
